While you can't always avoid divine intervention, there are ways to minimize the possibility of being struck by the dreaded runner runner curse. The first way to do so is to learn how to calculate the odds; we've all seen it on TV, where each player is assigned a percentage that represents their possibility of winning the hand. As a regular player, you had better learn how to calculate those odds. Perhaps more importantly, you can never believe that the hand is over until the river has been turned and the chips are being pushed in your direction. The casino's Help Line is available 24/7. You can ask any question about your games, banking, promotions or any technical details via free phone, email or chat and the All Slots support staff will answer you within minutes. When you receive two cards (only) and they equal "21", it's called a natural blackjack. This is the best hand in most forms of twenty-one and, unless you're playing under special house rules, the most the dealer can do is tie you. If you hand ties the dealer's, it's called a push. If you receive an ace-10 twenty-one and the dealer receives an 10-6-5 twenty-one, then you win. Any twenty-ones built with three or more cards are considered the same value, unless special rules apply (and they do sometimes). The natural 21 pays at 3:2 in most blackjack games, though you'll see the payouts at 1:1, 6:5, and 7:5. If you see any of these other payouts, avoid the game. 2 player card games
