Only two other symbols are used on this poker machine: the groups of one, two, or three BAR symbols (replaced in this game by wicked looking hand axes) that were so common on old-school pokies and lucky red 7 symbol that represents the title's second most valuable combo. Simplicity in the game's symbols and pay table is a part of the whole classic slot thing that some gamblers rush to exclusively. The ability to quickly learn a game's pay table and not have to keep track of goofy pay lines that streak in diagonal lines all over the screen, or worry about wild or scatter symbols is appealing to many bettors, especially those with hectic lives who want to use poker machine gambling as a way to wind down after a rough day at the office. There are 7 coin denominations that players can choose from while placing their bets. The denominations are 0.01, 0.02, 0.05, 0.10, 0.20, 0.50, and 1.00. The minimum bet for this game ranges between 0.01 and 0.15, while the maximum bet ranges between 1.00 and 150. Add to this a return to player value of 96.4% and it is no wonder that this game is loved by the high rollers as much as it is played by the regular slot players.
