The SA government recently passed a law which would limit bets per spin to $5, down from the previous $10 limit. Another new law calls for a pre-commitment system, which would allow gamblers to set a limit to their gambling losses before they started playing. The new law also creates a major venue (60 machines max) and a minor venue (20 machines max). The distinction between these venues includes the ability to use ATM machine and player incentive clubs. The new law might lead to a consolidation of poker machines in the bigger establishments. Their maximum limit of machines goes from 40 to 60, while many of the smaller places may be able to sell their licenses to the big clubs. You are going to see that most of the popular payment solutions are available at the William Hill. Except for PayPal, it looks like that's not accepted. However, there are so many alternatives out there, and the most popular ones like Neteller are accepted at this
